

Means Available For U.P. Program Of Girl Scouting

The Girl Scouts of the U. S. A. have eased the economy of the Upper Peninsula and Northeastern Wisconsin and found that there are "adequate financial resources to cover costs of the Girl Scout services required."

The survey was part of a program to organize Girl Scouting for greater service to young women of the area.

Other findings of the survey, just completed, says Vola M. Mays, finance service consultant of the Girl Scouts, include:

1. The need for a Girl Scout program as an effective means of providing services to youth is recognized.
2. There is conviction that co-operation is important in achieving any desirable goal.
3. The Girl Scout manpower shouldn't be dissipated through duplication of administrative effort.
4. Factors point toward desirability of a unified effort to administer a service program.
5. A group of community leaders now directing their efforts to development of the area economy is a storehouse of experience, knowledge and ability available to developing Girl Scouting in the Upper Peninsula.

The study broke the U. P. into three regions:

- No. 1, composed of Ontonagon, Houghton, Keweenaw and Baraga counties population 55,860, has 5,880 girls 7 to 17 years of age and thus eligible for Girl Scouting.
- No. 2, Marquette, Alger, Schoolcraft, Delta and parts of Menominee county, population 113,939, has 11,393 girls eligible.
- No. 3, Luce, Chippewa and Mackinac counties, population 51,335, has 5,133 girls eligible.

At the beginning of the year No. 1 had 2 lone troop communities with 6 troops enrolling 82 girls, and 2 councils with 45 troops enrolling 629 girls. No. 2 had 10 lone troops and 133 council troops enrolling 153 and 1,803 girls respectively. No. 3 had 11 lone troops enrolling 197 girls.

2,392 Girls Enrolled

The U. P. enrollment was 961 girls in 57 lone troops, with 178 council troops with 2,432, a total

2,500 births over deaths, a net migration loss of 2,200 for a net total gain of 300.

Menominee Lost

Schoolcraft County rose from 9,100 to 9,200, had an excess of 1,400 births over deaths for a net migration loss of 1,300 and net gain of 100.

Menominee has a loss from 25,300 to 24,600, an excess of 3,200 births over deaths for a net migration loss of 3,900 and net total loss of 700. Alger slipped, too, wound up with a net total loss of 800 population. Mackinac's net gain was 1,600.

The survey says, "The City of Marquette may best be described as a 'service center' by U. S. Department of Commerce standards since the major portion of the labor market, exclusive of Air Force personnel, is engaged in service rather than industry. Escanaba has been described as the industrial center of the Upper Peninsula. Wood products, including paper, manufacture of heavy construction machinery rank highest in the labor market classifications in Delta County. A substantial number of people commute daily to jobs in Delta County from the surrounding neighboring counties of Menominee, Marquette, Alger and Schoolcraft.

Know Of Problems

"The Munising Paper Co., a subsidiary of Kimberly-Clark, in Alger County, and Manistique Pulp & Paper Co., owned by Field Enterprises, Chicago, furnish year around employment of the largest percentage of the labor force in their respective counties. At Manistique Inland Lime & Stone Co., Division of Inland Steel Corp employs as high as 400 on a seasonal basis."

Under "Attitudes" the survey found "An outstanding characteristic of the Upper Peninsula is its people's ability to evaluate their own conditions and their willingness to put forth progressive and aggressive efforts to solve their own problems. One opinion expressed time after time by the vast majority of those interviewed was that the solution to any and all of the problems facing the U. P. is 'the need for all people from all sections to work together'."

Money Not Lacking

"In reply to the question 'In your opinion will the people of this community support youth programs' without exception an affirmative answer was received. Opinions on success of campaign for major health agencies varied, but for the most part held: 'No campaign for funds is easy; failure were seldom attributed to lack of money but, rather, to inadequate or ineffective organization structure; most people will help with any cause affecting children; with adequate leadership, planning, and manpower, funds can be raised.'"

"It is not intended to portray all of the opinions expressed as optimistic. Elements which may be classified as liabilities were also mentioned. Most frequently stated was the inherent quality of the human element that objects to change of any kind for any purpose. 'People do not like change; they want to remain as they are; it was a common statement.'"

WON, BUT LOST

Although Charles Goodyear finally won the legal claim to his discoveries relating to rubber in the famous India Rubber case, in which Daniel Webster was his attorney, he died in debt.

The Diocese of Marquette Catholic High School Music Festival will be held at Holy Name High School gym here Wednesday beginning at 11 a. m. with a Mass. Music Festival At Holy Name

The Catholic High School Music Festival of the Diocese of Marquette will be held in Holy Name gymnasium April 17. The program will begin with the offering of the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass at 11 a. m. Combined choruses of Bishop Baraga Central High School, St. Paul High School, St. John Catechetical School and Holy Name High School will sing Mass IX - Cum Jubilo, directed by the Rev. Otto Sartorelli, supervisor of music in the Diocese.

The afternoon program will be opened at 1:15 with the combined choruses singing "Bless This House." This will be followed by selections from the various schools. Directors of the participating groups are: Sister Alice Josephine, C. S. J.—Bishop Baraga Girls' Glee Club; the Rev. T. Coleman—Bishop Baraga Boys' Glee Club; Sister Rose Suzanne, C. S. J.—St. Paul High School; Mrs. Charles Snyder—Holy Name High School.

The public is cordially invited to attend the program.

Schoolcraft To Talk Annexation To Delta District

Events shaping up to a major, historic reorganization of Delta Area school districting will take one step forward with the filing of nominating petitions for members of the Delta County Board of Education by May 3 with Hagley Quarstrom, Delta County school superintendent, who is secretary of the board.

Members of the board whose terms are expiring are J. Walter Van DeWeghe of Kipling, and Harry Johnson, Jr., of Flat Rock. Both are expected to seek reelection. Nominating petitions must bear 50 signatures and forms are available at Quarstrom's office in the Delta County Building.

Secretaries of the local school districts meeting June 3 at 7:30 p. m. in the Delta County Building will elect the board members.

Other members of the County Board of Education are Leroy Hamilton, Gladstone; Carl Van Remortel, Fairbanks, and Frank Bender, Wells.

The Delta County Board of Education is now the Delta County Intermediate District Board of Education under Act 190 which became effective March 28. The act requires merger of school districts with less than 5,000 students to provide this number to quality for state school aid.

Delta has a school enrollment of 8,000 students and so is not affected by the intermediate school district act, but adjoining Schoolcraft County, with fewer than 5,000 students, is affected and may join Delta. Alger County is expected to join Marquette County in an intermediate district to continue its qualification for state aid.

A joint meeting of the Delta and Schoolcraft County Boards of Education has been set for Thursday evening at Rapid River to discuss the Schoolcraft board's official request for annexation of Schoolcraft County to the Delta County Intermediate District. Without some such action Schoolcraft County Intermediate District would lose its state aid in another year.

The county, or multi-county intermediate school districts are sort of super districts which include the individual local school districts like Escanaba Area, Gladstone, etc.

Quarstrom said that it is hope that the new intermediate school district program, for which increased state aids have been proposed, will be able to initiate special school programs like sight saving, instruction for the hard of hearing, physically handicapped, mentally handicapped, homebound, etc. Escanaba Area School District has some of these programs now, and gets limited state aids for them. Some counties in Michigan have created special education districts to provide these services. They levy a special tax of from three-quarter mill to one mill and get special state aids.

The Escanaba Area School District is the only one in Delta and Schoolcraft counties offering such special services at present.

Soo Hill House Razed By Blaze Started In Pique

A Soo Hill woman, Mrs. Joan Larson, 33, admitted to State Police that she lit the fire which destroyed a lumber pile and a two-room frame house occupied by Charles Errard, 76, also of Soo Hill, Saturday afternoon. The fire was started about 2:30 p. m.

Officers said the fire was reported by Fred Courier of 828 N. 20th St. at 6 p. m. Saturday.

Chorus To Sing At Marquette

Two special events are scheduled this week by the Bay de Noc Barbershop Chorus, SPEBSQSA, as they join in observing "Harmony Week" marking the 25th anniversary of their singing organization. The Escanaba-Gladstone group will go to Marquette Thursday night to sing for an assembly of prisoners at the State Branch Prison, and Saturday night will join in the annual spring smelt fest of the Gladstone Yacht Club. The chorus members plan to leave for Marquette at 5 p. m., Thursday.

The Escanaba Chapter of the SPEBSQSA is joining its 650 counterparts throughout the United States and Canada in celebrating the founding of this unique organization on April 11, 1938, in Tulsa, Okla.

The Barbershoppers' theme for 1963 is "A Quarter Century of Harmony." The local chapter is part of a 28,000 member singing fraternity devoted exclusively to men who want to sing four-part barbershop harmony. There is no other organization in the world today that compares with SPEBSQSA.

The county, or multi-county intermediate school districts are sort of super districts which include the individual local school districts like Escanaba Area, Gladstone, etc.

Quarstrom said that it is hope that the new intermediate school district program, for which increased state aids have been proposed, will be able to initiate special school programs like sight saving, instruction for the hard of hearing, physically handicapped, mentally handicapped, homebound, etc. Escanaba Area School District has some of these programs now, and gets limited state aids for them. Some counties in Michigan have created special education districts to provide these services. They levy a special tax of from three-quarter mill to one mill and get special state aids.

The Escanaba Area School District is the only one in Delta and Schoolcraft counties offering such special services at present.

Does BLADDER IRRITATION MAKE YOU NERVOUS?

After 21, common kidney or bladder irritations affect twice as many women as men and may make you tense and nervous from too frequent urination both day and night. Secondly, you may lose sleep and suffer from headaches, backache and feel old, tired, depressed. In such irritation, CYSTEX usually brings fast, relaxing comfort by curing irritative germs in strong, acid urine and by analgesic pain relief. Get CYSTEX at drugists. Feel better fast.

Illness Fatal To W. H. Dickson

Walter H. Dickson, 73, of 523 Ogden Ave., prominent Escanaba business man, died Friday at 8:55 p. m. at Belleville Memorial Hospital, Belleville, Ill. He was taken ill while he and Mrs. Dickson were enroute home from a winter vacation in Florida.

Mr. Dickson, president of the Office Service Co., was born in South Ford River July 7, 1889. He was graduated from Escanaba High School in 1909 and immediately following graduation he went to work for the Anderson Delatite Lumber Co. in Calderwood, Mich. He also served that community as Postmaster, Justice of the Peace, member of the Board of Supervisors, and he operated his own taxi service from Calderwood to the railroad station at Trout Creek.

He married the former Effie Campbell April 15, 1913, and they moved to Escanaba in 1916. He was employed by the Upper Michigan Produce Co. until 1921 when he organized the Office Service Co.

He was a member of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, a member of Delta Lodge 195, F. & A. M., for over 52 years, Past Lieutenant Governor of District 13, Kiwanis International, a member of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce, Escanaba Country Club, Escanaba Lodge 354, B. P. O. E., and United Commercial Travelers.

He is survived by his wife, a son, Walter Karl, a daughter, Frances Ann Olson of Lombard, Ill., and three grandchildren.

Friends may call at the Anderson Funeral Home after 4 p. m. today. Masonic services will be held there this evening at 8. Complete services will be held at the funeral home chapel at 2:30 p. m. Tuesday. The Rev. Canon James G. Ward, rector emeritus of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church will officiate. Burial will be in Lakeview Cemetery.

Ticketed For Minor Mishap

Curtis G. Nelson, 22, of 624 N. 19th St., was ticketed by sheriff's officers for failing to report a property damage accident which occurred at 1:30 a. m. Sunday.

According to officers, Nelson while traveling south on County Road 426 had a blowout on his car. The vehicle skidded 120 feet and came to rest in a ditch on the left side of the roadway. Damage to the car was minor, however, Nelson left the scene without reporting the mishap.

Birmingham, Ala. Marchers Jailed

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Albert Boutwell — a segregationist, but considered a moderate on the issue—takes the oath of office as mayor of Birmingham today amid prospects of more demonstrations by Negroes fighting the city's racial barriers.

Sunday 32 demonstrators were arrested, bringing to 260 the number jailed since Negroes launched an anti-segregation drive early this month.

The arrests came after police halted nearly 1,000 Negroes marching toward city jail, where several of their leaders, including the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., are being held.

A little earlier, a few Negroes succeeded in attending Easter services at two white churches. Negroes were turned away from several other white churches.

The mild-mannered Boutwell and the nine councilmen elected with him had no assurance they would be able to step immediately into the duties of office.

They were chosen to replace three-man city commission, but the commissioners — including arch segregationist Eugene Connor — contend their terms have not rendered office without a court expired and say they won't surfeit.

Delta Area Deer Appear To Have Wintered Well

The deer in the Delta area appear to have wintered well but surveys to determine just what happened have been delayed by snow, which lingers in swamp forest areas, says Joseph Vogt, Escanaba District game supervisor of the Michigan Conservation Department.

Vogt said that conservation officers started their pellet surveys in deer areas two weeks ago, which is three weeks earlier than a year ago. Plots in open areas and in upland timber have been surveyed, but in a swamp areas the work had been delayed by snow.

The deer seem in good condition, said Vogt. He said that the winter has been a mild one, compared with 1961-62 and that the animals were not yarded as long; that they moved into winter yard a month later and moved out of the yards earlier this spring.

Survey crews found one dead deer so far, on the Stonington Peninsula. It had not starved, bone marrow revealed.

Wife Of British Cabinet Minister Milks Cow Daily

By The Associated Press
Mrs. William Deedes of the London suburb of Akington discloses that she milks her cow seven days a week—which wouldn't be unusual, except that Mrs. Deedes is the wife of a British Cabinet minister.

"Milking my own cow saves heaps on housekeeping," said the wife of William Deedes. The Deedes have five children.

Mrs. Deedes, in her late 30s, has been milking since she was a girl. "The minister never milks," she said of her 49-year-old husband.

In Service

Airman 3/c Shelby G. Fuller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gouin of Rte. 1, Ensign, arrived Saturday to spend a 15-day furlough at the home of his parents. Fuller recently completed his basic training at Lackland Air Force Base. Following his stay here he will return to Norton Air Base at San Bernardino, Calif. He is a 1962 graduate of the Rapid River High School.

Robert E. Guindon, aviation storekeeper second class, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest J. Guindon of 2205 Ludington St., Escanaba, was commended for contributing to Training Squadron Nine's achievement of 35,000 hours of accident-free flight at the Naval Auxiliary Air Station, Meridian, Miss. Commissioned one year ago, the squadron is believed to hold an all-time record in jet hours flown without an accident.

Canadian Dies In Freak Mishap

SAULT STE. MARIE — William Shackleton, a Dept. of Transport Public Communications employee at the Sault, Ont., airport, was killed in a freak accident on the upper St. Mary's River ice, opposite Pointe aux Chenes last Friday.

Shackleton, who was accompanied by Ronald Chateau, also an airport employee, left the airport for a routine visit to Gros Cap lighthouse to inspect a radio beacon. They were traveling on a sled-like vehicle, powered by an aircraft engine and propeller mounted on the rear, and were traversing a broken ice field when the sled ran into a patch of open water.

During the attempt to pull back on the ice, the vehicle upset and Shackleton was struck on the head by the whirling prop. Death was instantaneous.

An emergency call to Kincheloe AFB officials brought a helicopter to the scene. After a survey, the helicopter crew reported that the ice was unsafe for landing. Gordon Adcock, an ambulance driver, volunteered to be dropped to the body by winch and sling from the aircraft, and recovery was effected.

Albert Haldi

Albert Haldi, now in charge of the reference section of the State Library in Lansing, has been named director of the U. P. Branch of the State Library in Escanaba, and Miss Mary Croteau, now Escanaba Library librarian, has been named assistant director of the branch. Haldi (pronounced Halsey) has been with the State Library since April 1962. Miss Croteau joined the Escanaba Library as reference librarian in 1960 and became librarian in 1961.

Helping Our Youth

The Girl Scouts of the U.S.A. made a survey of the Upper Peninsula of Michigan and Northeastern Wisconsin as prelude to a campaign to organize its program of services to girls in the area more effectively. It wanted to know about the population and the proportion of girls 7 to 17 years of age and hence eligible for membership in the Girl Scouts. And it wanted to know about the economics of the area so it could judge its means for support of youth programs and about public attitudes.

It found that the U. P. has been a place of slightly declining population over a 50 year period and that air bases have been the chief counter effect to this trend in recent years; that the area has a healthy and wholesome excess of births over deaths, but that its outmigration of people to other areas (usually in search of jobs) exceeds the immigration of outsiders. This trend resulted in a net total loss of population in 8 of the 15 counties of the U. P. between 1950 and 1960. Counties which showed gains were: Ontonagon, Dickinson, Marquette, Delta, Schoolcraft, Chippewa and Mackinac.

The survey found that people of the area know its problems and are willing to work to solve them. It found that people believed that where campaigns for major health services had failed it was not because of lack of money — although "no campaign for funds is easy" — but because of inadequate campaign organization.

Presenting a commendatory picture of Upper Peninsula attitudes toward public service programs, the survey added "elements which may be classified as liabilities were also mentioned" in survey interviews. Chief of these is a resistance to change.

The Girl Scouts have 3,392 girls and 840 adults enrolled in their program in the Upper Peninsula, out of a potential of 22,106 girls in Scouting's age group. The number can be enlarged by more effective programming and it should be enlarged for the benefits which this program can bring to our young women.

On their part, the Girl Scout executives found that they can use their professional staffers more effectively in the area. The Upper Peninsula is rather unique in its small population and huge area, and in its strongly segmented economic areas (the Copper Country, the iron ranges, etc) and needs organization of youth services in a system that fits the area. Peninsulans know the need for exposures like Girl Scouting for their young women and are willing to support this work adequately.

The great problem of effective organization is in attracting enough able adult leaders and training them for effective service. This, too, can be done. The work is one which holds rewarding gratification for adults in expression of personality and in important public service.

The Girl Scouts have found the U. P. with adequate means and proper values. Now the U. P. should find the Girl Scouts desirable as a friend of our young women.

The Doctor Says:

Bed Rest Best For Mumps

By Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.

Mumps is a painful swelling of the parotid salivary gland on one or both sides, and is due to a virus. The virus is spread by means of infected saliva which may get into the air in the form of minute droplets when a person with mumps talks, laughs or sneezes. Eating utensils freshly contaminated with infected saliva may also be a means of spreading the disease.

A vaccine is available but is rarely used, because the immunity it confers lasts only about two years and many doctors believe that a child should be allowed to have the mumps and get it over with. This attitude is based on two premises: first, that the disease is relatively harmless in early childhood (it is more serious after puberty); second, that an attack will confer lifelong immunity.

Although generally true, there are exceptions to both premises. Mumps cause a meningitis or encephalitis (brain fever) in some children and, although it is usually mild and recovery is prompt, in rare instances it leaves the child deaf in one ear. In adolescents and adults mumps may cause acute inflammation of the sex glands (testicles or ovaries). This is much more likely to occur in boys than in girls, and is prevented by strict bed rest during the acute stage of the parotid infection. Uncomfortable as this complication is, it does not interfere with parenthood later in life.

Regardless of whether the parotid gland is involved on both sides or only on one side, the amount of immunity conferred by an attack is not as lasting as in the case of measles or chickenpox. Second attacks are not uncommon. This is an added reason not to expose a child to mumps deliberately. In the course of his mild attack he may pass a severe attack on to an adult.

When mumps occurs in a child it may, therefore, be advisable to give the vaccine to the teen-agers and adults in the family, although by this time it may be too late. It would be more important to avoid close contact and to boil the dishes the child uses.

Many an adult who believes he had mumps in childhood really had some other disease of the parotid glands, or may even have had an inflammation of the lymph nodes in the neck that was misdiagnosed as mumps. This is another reason an adult should not carelessly expose himself to mumps.

As implied above, the best way to prevent the complications of mumps is to enforce strict bed rest during the acute stage of the disease. This is always a problem in dealing with a normally active child, and much of your success will depend on how carefully you have laid the groundwork of cheerful obedience by your child.

Your success will also depend in part on how much time you can devote to being with your child during the time he has to stay in bed. If you can read to him and provide quiet games and quiet ways for him to amuse himself, you can keep him reasonably happy, without unduly close contact.

As soon as the hard swelling begins to soften and recede you can encourage gradually increasing activity.

FORCEFUL FALLS

The three sections of Yosemite Falls shake the earth with the force of their 2,425-foot plunge during spring floods. These are the highest falls in North America.

In October 1961 a volcanic eruption on Tristan da Cunha Island in the South Atlantic drove the 260 residents from their homes to England.

Washington Comment

WASHINGTON—(NEA)— Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy showed members of the National Editorial Association one of his prize pictures when they called on him in his office for a briefing.

It was a snap-shot of one of his sons standing in front of the White House. He said it had been taken by his sister-in-law, First Lady Jacqueline Kennedy.

The picture was framed so as to show what she had written on the back. It was: "Bobby in front of his future home."

It was a real love feast when long-time United Mine Workers President John L. Lewis retired as head of the National Coal Policy Conference and was honored by his old enemies, the coal operators. As a token of their affection they presented him with an oil portrait which showed what Lewis looked like in his prime battling days.

When the painting was unveiled by George M. Love, head of Consolidated Coal Co., Lewis—now 83, with bright blue eyes shining under white hair and bushy eyebrows instead of gray—asked sardonically, "Do I look that way? I'd hate on a dark night and in a close place to meet a man of that character."

Then at the end of his remarks on coal mining, fuel oil, unemployment and Shakespeare, Lewis turned to the portrait, thanked the donors and said, "I'm going to have a hard time studying all the facets of that man's character."

As a result of the hectic congressional hearings over the Tactical Fighter Experimental—TFX contract—this poem is circulating in the Pentagon:

Once there was a TFX—
A fighter plane sublime.
It was supposed to win a war
But began a different kind

The contract went to a Texas firm,
Which the Senate thought was wrong.
"Not so!" the Pentagon replied,
"It cost us just a song."

Investigators then dug in
And found Seattle's bid was cheaper.
When McNamara writhed in pain
"Big Bob" was called a weeper.

So if some day the plane is built
And wins its hoped-for fame,
It may be called a bunch of things
But "scar - fighter" is its name!

At the dinner honoring Sen. Harry Flood Byrd for his 30 years of continuous service in the upper house of Congress, Vice President Lyndon Johnson told an inside story which illustrates perfectly how quietly and efficiently the Virginia apple grower runs his famous Old Dominion political machine.

It was during 1954 debate on a tax mill amendment which Senate Majority Leader Johnson was supporting and Byrd was against. The Virginian came up to the Texan's desk and asked, "Lyndon, do I have the votes to defeat your amendment?"

Johnson—"Yes, by three or four votes."

As debate was coming to an end, Byrd again approached Johnson, asked the same question and got the same answer.

"If you're sure," said Byrd, "I won't denounce it."

The amendment lost by four votes.

President Kennedy's brother-in-law, Stephen E. Smith, is expected to get some help in placing the biggest cracks in the Democratic party for the 1964 presidential race.

Among those under consideration is Ben Smith, former senator from Massachusetts, who was appointed to Kennedy's seat when the latter gained the White House in 1960. The President's brother, Ted, won the same seat by election last fall.

Before the party patch-ups are achieved, Ben Smith may be moved to repeat a gag he uttered last spring at the Massachusetts convention which endorsed young Ted for senator.

Mindful of the fact he (Ben) had not been tapped for the job again, and looking at a Steve Smith perspiring in Ted Kennedy's hot, cramped convention command post, Ben Smith blurted jokingly:

"What have the Kennedys got against us Smiths?"

Rep. Jim Wright, D-Tex., tells this story from a Cuban veteran of the Bay of Pigs invasion to illustrate what goes on in Castroland prisons these days:

A captured Freedom Fighter approached two Castro militiamen on guard duty and asked one of them for a cigarette. The militiamen not only refused to give him one, but cursed him for even asking.

"But later," the Cuban refugee said, "this very same guard sneaked up to the prison barracks and, safely out of sight of his fellow militiaman, handed over three cigarettes."

"They just don't even trust each other," the returned prisoner said.

Menominee County Tries New Bait For Farm Cash

By JEAN WORTH

Menominee County leads the Upper Peninsula in agriculture but it's hurting—under current conditions and looking about for ways to increase its farm income. The look about has taken it into some strange by-ways and shown a lively sense of enterprise that is reminiscent of the beginnings of agriculture there.

The major decision of the farm planners in the current period of change is that they cannot profitably increase their fortunes by increasing their dairy herds. The trend, indeed, may be in the other direction, toward smaller and better herds.

The dairyman's solution for a generation or more has been to add a few cows to the herd when he needed more income. This worked up to a point, but coupled with increased production per cow it has created such a surplus of milk in America that dairymen suffer.

The first land clearing for agriculture in Menominee County was on the Menominee River above the City of Menominee on the old Kittson Farm in the 1820s. The soil was sandy and the farm was more of a way station for river travel than an agricultural success.

It was the beginning of a county farm economy which became the greatest in the Upper Peninsula. Its good soils were the chief reason for this, along with its southernmost position and resulting climate, which favors growth of corn for dairy feed ensilage.

The county had a varied agriculture, but trended strongly toward dairying, even after many of its little crossroads cheese factories had closed their doors.

The county produced so much milk that it supplied several creameries manufacturing butter, a milk condenser and several cheese factories, besides its supply of milk for bottling. At one time it had a whey condenser which manufactured alcohol and feed for turkeys and other stock from this by-product of cheese manufacture.

But dairying today, in the words of Gail Bowers of Stephenson, the county's agricultural extension agent is "rough."

May Try Pigs

Menominee County is unusually well equipped for change. It has had the benefit of leadership training in the Community School Service Program which the Kellogg Foundation financed about 15 years ago. The Stephenson area was a state stand-out in achievement in this program.

As a result of this and other influences there is a good deal of study, planning and experimentation underway in Menominee County, all looking for a way to make an extra buck of income and to cope with the increased costs of living. When a bond issue of the Stephenson Area School District failed, a committee was created to study the reasons and to work in both directions — to reduce school needs as much as is safe and to increase income as much as possible to meet school needs.

Bowers reports that pig raising looks promising as a project for Menominee County farmers. "He handles three milking machines and does all the washing and milk carrying. That's too much work. If he can keep up his income with only 25 cows, and others do it too, we can take 20 per cent of the milk off the market."

"We've got to change our plan of getting bigger," he said and cited one dairyman who has increased his herd to 40 animals. "He handles three milking machines and does all the washing and milk carrying. That's too much work. If he can keep up his income with only 25 cows, and others do it too, we can take 20 per cent of the milk off the market."

New Enterprises

Elsewhere in the U. P. and most notably in the Chassell area of the Copper Country, there has been successful growing of strawberries, but Bowers says Menominee County's situation is different. "We're too close to the tail end of the Wisconsin production for strawberries," he said. "The Houghton area's come in two or three weeks later than Wisconsin's and find a market ready for berries again."

Bowers said he thought that there is a chance for great expansion of the maple syrup business in the Upper Peninsula. He thinks that organization to gather the sap in many sugar bushes and to transport it to central evaporating plants will produce the best results.

The effort for the new buck and the extra buck has turned up some profitable little sidelines. One Menominee County enterpriser sold 150,000 feet of popple lumber last year by sawing it up into disposable forming stakes for Chicago are concrete construction contractors.

"Labor costs are so high," said Bowers, "that it doesn't pay contractors to try to salvage such forms by pulling nails, so they just dispose of them. It's cheaper to use new ones. The stakes are sawed in three lengths, 16, 24 and 36 inches."

But it is in the field of recreation business that Bowers thinks Menominee County and other Upper Peninsula counties have the most promising opportunities.

Asked if he had farm guests in mind, Bowers said, "Lamuel Kline of Ingalls had a guest on his farm for a week and Lam enjoyed his company so much that he didn't charge him anything. I don't know about the commercial possibilities of this type of business, but very obviously it can provide a lot of pleasure for farm hosts and their guests, paying or non-paying."

Cottages to rent in rural areas, and especially in recreational areas are increasingly in demand. David Olive said that the Island Bar at Stephenson found that a lot of pleasure for farm hosts and their guests, paying or non-paying."

Bass Festival

Bowers cited the opening of the bass season at Cedar River as a neglected opportunity for recreational promotion. "There were 100 boats at the opening of the season last year and everybody caught fish. It's the kind of thing that could be turned into a great jamboree because the fish and the fun are really there."

Bowers reported more hosting of deer hunters and upland game hunters and more service as guides to visitors. He reported three new trout ponds being constructed in the Faithorn area and said that there appear to be substantial opportunities for this sort of development.

The private shooting preserve offers great opportunities to the Upper Peninsula, says Bowers. He cited the success of Malcolm Garrison's shooting enterprise at Faithorn in Menominee County. Garrison raises pheasants and ducks for liberation on his shooting grounds and he was so successful last year that he ran out of game and had to shoot his breeding stock too.

Oddly, and perhaps typically, the enterprise draws few shooters from Menominee County but is liberally patronized by hunters from the Marquette, Escanaba and Iron Mountain areas, who can get in a pheasant hunt with much less bother and expense than going to Dakota. Under state law only 60 per cent of the birds liberated can be shot on the range, so the releases stock the entire area with gamebirds.

As a sideline, a woman who dresses ducks shot on the grounds made as much as $30 a day providing this service at 60 cents a bird.

Bean growing once provided considerable income for Menominee County but machine harvesting has changed this business and reduced harvest labor income. Bee keeping has been tried by some and Bowers is too long to make it attractively profitable, he says.

Red Cross Busy In 100th Year

The year 1963 is the centennial of the Red Cross as well as of the City of Escanaba. The Red Cross was born of the suffering of 40,000 soldiers wounded and dying on the battlefield of Solferino in northern Italy in 1859.

A wise Swiss banker named Dunant recruited volunteers to give aid to these sufferers and saw the need for similar volunteer units in all countries to care for sick and wounded soldiers.

His efforts resulted in a meeting of representatives of 16 countries in October 1863—the start of the Red Cross as we know it today. A treaty—the first Geneva Convention—was signed by 12 governments a year later and has since been accepted by nearly every nation to prescribe humane treatment of war prisoners.

Today, 100 years later, there are almost 90 national Red Cross societies in the world dedicated to helping the sick and wounded in war as well as prisoners of war and civilians in war areas, and also helping in floods, famines and other peacetime disasters.

There are now 3,600 local American Red Cross Chapters which help 74,000 service men monthly in the United States and overseas, and which help 82,000 families of service men each month.

The Red Cross handles about 300 disaster relief operations a year and collects more than 2.5 million pints of blood each year to serve 4,100 hospitals (including St. Francis Hospital, Escanaba) with a blood bank.

Russians Launch Earth Satellite

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union launched another artificial earth satellite, Cosmos XIV, Tass, the Soviet News agency announced.

It carries equipment to continue space studies in accordance with a program announced March 16, 1962, Tass said. It added that all equipment aboard is functioning normally and information being received is being processed at a coordinating computing center.

Tass said the Sputnik is orbiting the earth every 92.1 minutes and that its distance from the earth ranges from 164 miles to 318 miles.

The satellite's radio is transmitting on 20,004 megacycles. In addition, Tass said, it has a radio system that can calculate precise measurements of the orbit.

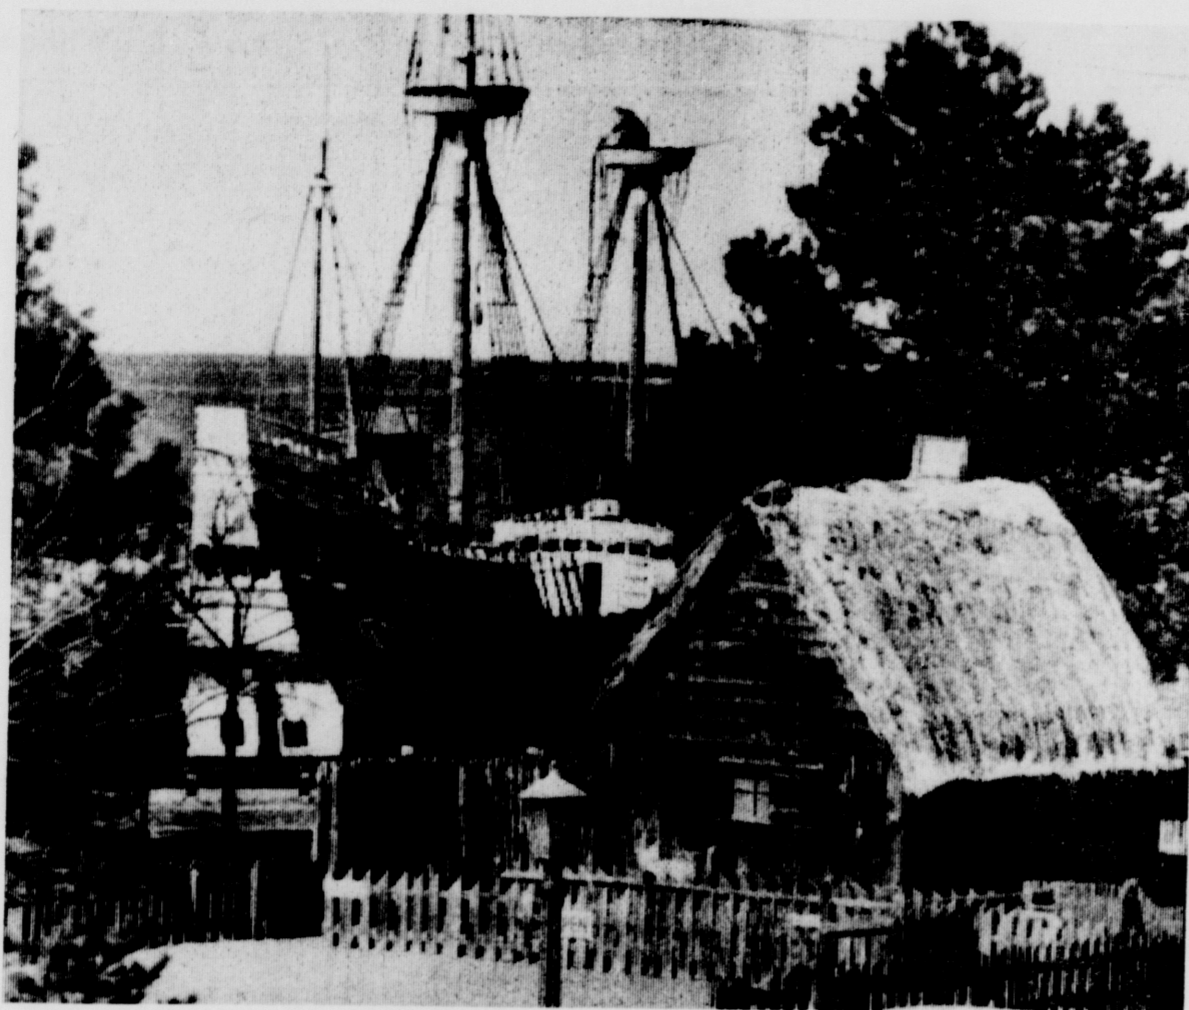

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain—without surgery.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—discovery of a world-famous research institute. This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H®. At all drug counters.

State Briefs

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney has proclaimed April 21-27 as Michigan Library Week.

LANSING (AP)—Michigan's winter wheat crop is forecast at 37.6 million bushels for this year, the Federal-State Crop Reporting Service says. The crop will be about one fourth larger than in 1962, when there was a sharp reduction in acreage.

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Some 200 specialists on Russia and eastern Europe will discuss these subjects at the Midwest Slavic Conference at the University of Michigan next Friday and Saturday. The meeting is sponsored by the American Association For The Advancement of Slavic Studies and is hosted by the U-M Center for Russian Studies.

ANN ARBOR (AP)—The University of Michigan Symphony Orchestra, conducted by Josef Bladt, will give its annual April concert here next Friday, the University has announced.

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney has proclaimed the week beginning April 29 as American Field Service Week, honoring the pioneer organization in international student exchanges.

EAST LANSING (AP)—Students at Michigan State University have named Marvin Kerr of Washington, N.J., president of the all-university student government. Elected officers of the senior class were James Blanchard of Royal Oak, president; James Bannan of Saginaw, vice president; Mary Jane Walker of New Bedford, Mass., secretary; and Sheila Sautner of Grand Rapids, treasurer.

Seven In Family Get Tonsils Out

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The seven children of Mr. and Mrs. Ray A. Billeaud lined up for a mass tonsillectomy.

But wait a minute—one was missing.

Mrs. Billeaud, nurses and children combed the hospital's children's ward and found 7-year-old Christopher hiding underneath a chair.

Then he joined his six brothers and sisters for the surgery Friday. First to go was howling and kicking 3-year-old Erin, followed by the elusive Christopher.

Then there was Shaun, 8; Jeffrey, 12; Chuck, 13; Ray Jr., 14; and Alicia, a grown-up 15-year-old miss who called the idea of having her tonsils out silly.

Said Mrs. Billeaud, "They're afraid of missing Easter, but we told them we'd make it up to them."

Italy's Medical Profession Sick

By GERALD MILLER

ROME (AP)—Something is ailing Italy's medical profession. The doctors diagnose it as a serious case of insufficient pay.

The symptoms have been growing for months. One day men in white parade through city streets with protest placards. Another day nurses and technicians walk off the job at stake hospitals.

Last week the nation's 83,000 doctors staged a nationwide 24-hour strike. They turned patients away from their doors and refused to provide hospitals and clinics anything but emergency service.

The next day they began a partial boycott of the detailed paper work required by Italy's various medical insurance programs. They refused to fill out anything more than such bare essentials as patients names and prescriptions.

Then, declaring that even these measures hadn't worked, the National Federation of Medical Associations ordered a complete break with the nation's state-run medical insurance agencies starting next Tuesday. But more than half the doctors—45,000 of them—decided to start their complete break last Wednesday.

Until they get satisfaction, said the federation, doctors will defy agency rules and pay-rates and go their own way, charging patients directly instead of waiting for the agencies to pay. The patients will have to worry about getting their money back from the agencies.

Many other issues are involved in the profession's agitation—job security with government hospitals, hours, working conditions and demands for better equipment.

But the big issue has been pay and red tape in the medical insurance program. Doctors want more of the first, less of the second—and now.

Physicians who treat patients under the programs average 300 lire (48 cents) for a routine office call and 600 lire (96 cents) for a home visit. Normally patients pay nothing to the doctors, who collect directly from the agencies.

The doctors want the agencies to pay $2.40 and $4.80, and they want a complete streamlining of administrative procedures. For their part the government agencies have scarcely budged. A 20-lire (4-cent) increase was suggested—and rejected by the doctors.

Tecumseh Builds Major Laboratory In Ann Arbor Park

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Tecumseh Products Co. will build a major research laboratory in the Ann Arbor Research Park and will contract with the University of Michigan for the use of U-M research personnel and facilities.

The firm is headquartered in Tecumseh, Mich., and has plants in Wisconsin, Indiana, Ohio and Ontario.

It will build a 20,000 - square-foot laboratory on a three - acre site and will employ 35 to 40 persons at the outset. No cost estimates of the new building, tentatively scheduled to open the first of next year, have been made.

Terms of the contract between the firm and the U-M, similar to agreements between the university and other area research and development firms, are being negotiated, said Michael Radock, director of university relations.

The Escanaba Daily Press has expanded its circulation to the Newberry area. This means 200 more subscribers with more to come. This is valuable additional coverage to Press advertisers.

Ann Landers

Wives Obsolete?

Dear Ann Landers: When are you going to get smart and give people some practical, down-to-earth advice they can live with?

Why not be honest and tell the young men who write that they are nuts to get married until they are 40. And then, they ought to marry a woman who is at least 10 years younger (20 years younger is better yet).

I made the usual boner. I got hooked when I was 22. By the time I was 32 I knew I had made a big mistake. But being a gentleman, I hung around another 10 years until the kids were raised. Then I dumped the old lady.

One year later I married a doll who is 18 years my junior. It cost me $60,000 to make the switch but it was worth every penny.

If you are honest Ann Landers, you will admit in your column that all first wives should be shot when they reach the age of 40. — SECOND TIME AROUND

Dear Second Time Around: Every few days I get a letter from some middle-aged Lothario who mistakes the slowing up of his sex drive for the death rattle. He then must prove to himself (and to the world) that he has lost none of his vim and vigor so he starts chasing around with a chick young enough to be his daughter.

These restless neurotics who want to automatically shoot their wives at 40 should consider saving the last bullet for themselves. Read the next letter.

Dear Ann Landers: Please forgive the looks of this letter. The ink is a little smeary but I spilled some bourbon on it. I know you don't care for drinking, but when I tell you why I am a little loaded you won't be so hard on me.

I was married for 28 years to a fine woman. She helped me build a business from the ground up. I don't know how she found the energy to run our home, have four children and be my right hand in the business, too, but she did. She even took care of my sick father until he died.

Three years ago a well-shaped, lively girl came to work for me. She had been married and was in the process of getting a divorce. I was flattered by her attention and soon we made plans to see each other out-of-town on weekends. Then we began to go out together right in town.

She made me feel young again. It was as if I had discovered a new world. Something must have snapped in my head because one day I decided to ask my wife for a divorce so I could marry this 27-year-old.

Everybody was shocked. My children told me I was crazy. Our friends all sided with my wife. All she said was, "If this is what you want you should have it."

I had to give my wife plenty — that's the law out here — but I was sure it was worth it.

My new wife and I took a 3-month honeymoon. By the time we got home I was sick of her. The sex attraction was gone. She seemed to go completely dead.

I know now I should have stayed with my comfortable old slippers. These new shoes are not for me. I'm ashamed to admit I was such a fool. I've wrecked my life, broken a good woman's heart, lost the respect of my children and have earned the title of — JACKASS OF THE CENTURY

Dear Jackass: I can add nothing to your letter. You've said it all.

And now — just a word of advice: Millions of people have looked for a solution at the bottom of a bottle. No one ever found one there.

To learn the difference between a marriage that "settles down" and one that "gets dull," send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "What To Expect From Marriage," enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a long-self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

LUCKILY FOR HIM

MIAMI — Royce Atwood Wight was taking a nap in the bedroom of his small cottage but suddenly awoke and dashed out of the room recently.

Seconds later a 36-foot, three-ton concrete piling, which workmen had been erecting near the place, crashed through the roof.

"I had a premonition of trouble," said the grateful Wight.

School Activities Curtailed At Yale

YALE (AP)—The Yale Board of Education has decided to eliminate athletics and curtail class programs in September following voters' rejection of a 3½ mill tax increase and a $1,125,000 building program in the April 1 election.

Superintendent Charles Goulding, in announcing the action said the board hopes to effect enough savings to operate under a balanced budget next year and erase a $35,000 deficit expected by the end of the current year in June.

Goulding said Yale would not participate in football, baseball or basketball and would eliminate such extra-curricular activities as school plays, dances and the senior trip.

The teaching staff will be reduced from 50 to 47 and there will be no pay increases other than "basic increments," Goulding declared.

The recent closing of the Yale Woolen Mills, the town's main industry and principal taxpayer, reportedly was a factor in voters' rejection of the two Yale school tax proposals.

NEW YORK (AP)—The will of the late Charlene Cassini, wife of society columnist Igor Cassini, leaves him the bulk of her estate, valued at approximately $100,000.

Mrs. Cassini, 38, died Tuesday of what police said was an apparent overdose of barbiturates. Her will, dated last Feb. 8—the same day her husband was indicted by a federal grand jury—was filed for probate Friday.

She left Cassini, her second husband, stock in a cooperative apartment and the apartment's furnishings and art objects.

Cassini also was left the residue of the estate.

To her sister, Irene Cernadas of Gstaad, Switzerland, and her 14-year-old stepdaughter, Marina—Cassini's child by one of two previous marriages—she left jewelry and other items.

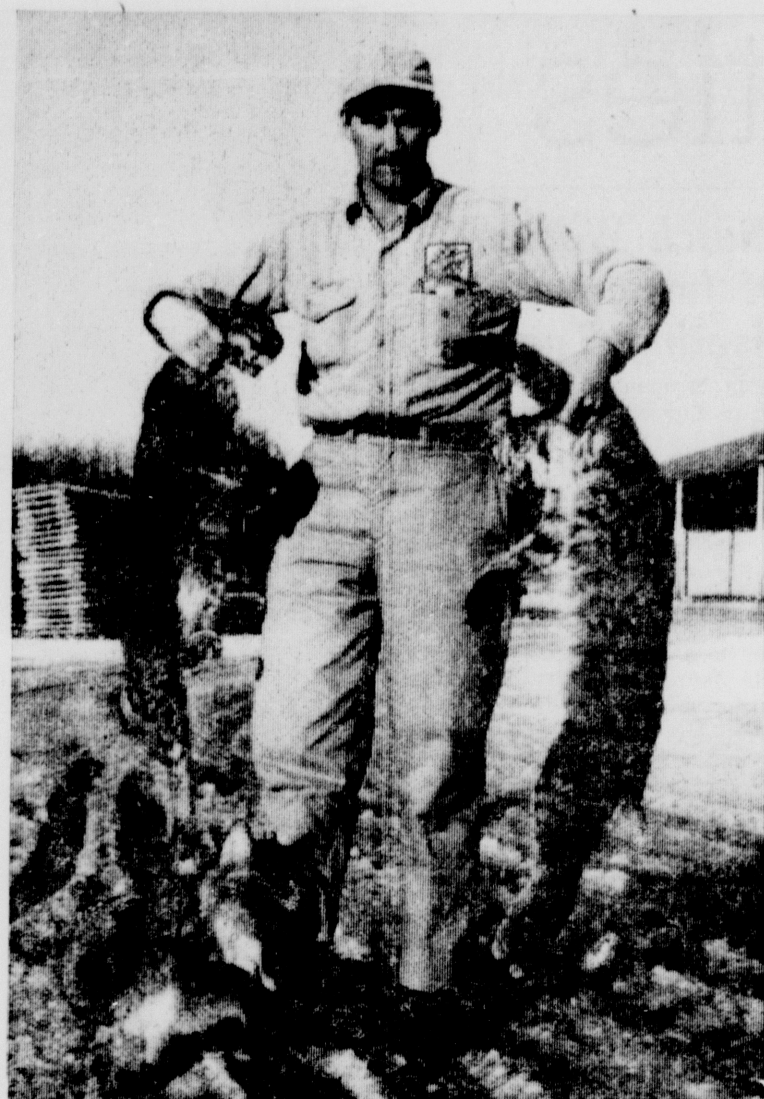

Mrs. Cassini also named her husband as the guardian not only of their son, Charles Alexander Cassini, 9, but also of Dana, 14, her son by an earlier marriage to actor Helmut Dantine, from whom she was divorced.

Ex-Flier Who Sunk Nippon Battleship Dies In Detroit

DETROIT (AP)—A former Navy pilot, whose World War II bomber plane sank the Japanese battleship Yamato near Okinawa in 1945, died here Friday in Sinai Hospital, a victim of leukemia.

William Ernest Delaney, 46, a Detroit salesman, had been ill for some time before his death. His widow and a son survive.

Delaney was flying an Avenger torpedo-bomber in aid on a Japanese task force when he sank the Yamato.

Tax Boss Just Beats Deadline

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mortimer M. Caplin, the nation's chief tax collector, has safely beat the income tax deadline—but not by much.

At the dinner hour Saturday, Caplin deposited form 1040 in a letterbox near his Northwest Washington home. The deadline is midnight tonight.

Caplin doesn't want to be known as a Hairbreadth Harry although, like millions of other Americans, he concedes he did dilly-dally a bit.

The Internal Revenue Service commissioner told a reporter Sunday night he got the adding and subtracting done a week ago.

When the Internal Revenue Service sent out its tax forms and instruction booklets this year they were accompanied by a letter from Caplin which advised "file early." It was suggested to the 46-year-old tax chief that perhaps he wasn't following his own advice.

Caplin laughed, then said the advice is primarily for the 40 million or so taxpayers who get refunds. The government wants to send them out early, he said. Caplin isn't getting one.

Like other Washington residents, Caplin recently received his new auto tags. Because "somebody had a cute idea," the number assigned to him is a constant reminder of his job: 1040.

Americans Join Thai Maneuvers

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington:

LAOS: Some U.S. ground forces will be sent to Thailand in June to take part in Southeast Asia Treaty Organization military maneuvers, U.S. officials disclosed.

The operation by the eight-nation defense pact was scheduled before the current Laotian crisis and has no connection with it, officials said.

But it was acknowledged that the show of force probably would be linked to the clash between neutralist and pro-Communist forces now threatening the government of neutralist Prime Minister Souvanna Phouma.

CANNON: Rep. Clarence Cannon, D-Mo., has observed his 84th birthday anniversary by urging his House colleagues to be economy-minded.

With the national debt at a record high and record appropriations begins sought, Cannon said Thursday, Congress must hold appropriations "to the very lowest level, the very lowest consistent minimum."

That, he said, means no new programs should be launched.

Chased By Police, Two Girls Killed As Car Overtakes

BRAINERD, Minn. (AP)—Two teen-age girls died Saturday when their car—being chased by a police cruiser—overtaken six miles north of the city.

The girls were thrown onto the road and died of broken necks and skull fractures. They were identified as Diane Bestul, 17, and Patsy Lou Carner, 16.

Police said they had received reports of unsafe driving near a drive-in and were proceeding to the area when the girls' car sped past. A chase at speeds between 90 and 100 miles per hour ensued.

Eau Claire High Drinking Students Put On Probation

EAU CLAIRE (AP)—Thirty-one members of Eau Claire High School's 1963 graduating class were put on probation and barred from all social activities after, school officials said, they admitted drinking while on the class trip to New York.

Superintendent John B. Vermilya of Niles said the Eau Claire Board of Education disciplined the 31 students for violating school regulations. Six other students who made the trip were absolved after questioning, he said.

The disciplined students will be permitted to participate in graduation ceremonies with the rest of the 66-member class, Vermilya said.

Chaperones, who included two teachers, telephoned from New York that nearly all of the students had been drinking, Vermilya said.

The school superintendent and Principal Robert Youngman drove to New York the next day and returned with seven students. The other 24 seniors returned home later.

Supervisor Of Witnesses Is Visiting Here

R. T. Soliday

The Escanaba Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses announced today that R. T. Soliday, of Brooklyn, N. Y., traveling minister and special representative of the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society will be in Escanaba Tuesday through Sunday to supervise the training of local ministers.

Tuesday evening he will meet with ministers who are entrusted with special duties within the congregation and who serve the needs of the individual minister. Starting at 7:30 the local Ministry School and Christian Field Service meeting will be held and counsel given by Soliday.

Group Bible Studies are scheduled for various areas Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday evenings.

At 8 Saturday evening Soliday will deliver a 45 minute discourse which will include his observations and counsel on the spiritual condition of the local congregation. Additionally an audience participation of half hour will be spent on "New Things Learned" by Bible scholars in recent months.

His visit will be climaxed by a public talk "Is Your Destiny of Your Own Making?" which he will deliver at 3 Sunday afternoon to be followed by the Watchtower study. A 30 minute discourse of instruction will bring his visit to a close.

Meetings will be held in Kingdom Hall, 1201 N. Sheridan Rd. The public is invited to all sessions.

Women's Activities

Social-Club

Flat Rock P.T.A. will meet Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the multipurpose room of the school. 4-H Club members will present a style revue and a talent show. The public is invited.

Nurses Meeting
Delta District, Michigan Practical Nurses Association, will have its monthly meeting Wednesday, April 17, at 7:30 p.m. at Pinecroft Medical Facilities, Powers. An interesting program is planned.

Eagles Auxiliary
Eagles Auxiliary, Aerie 1088, will meet Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the clubrooms. Officers for the coming year will be nominated and lunch will be served by Mrs. Harry Randall and committee.

Merry Home Makers
The Merry Home Makers Extension Group will meet at the home of Mrs. Francis Cayer, Soo Hill, Wednesday, April 17, at 8 p.m. The project will start promptly at 8:30 and refreshments will be served. Each member is asked to have a plate on which to place her planter to take home.

Coleen Sargent, student at Hackley School of Nursing, Muskegon, received her cap at ceremonies held Sunday, April 7. Miss Sargent, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Sargent, Ensign Rte. 1, is a graduate of Nahma High School and was valedictorian of her class.

Sacred Concert Thursday At Salem Ev. Lutheran

A sacred concert by the Bethany Choir will be presented at Salem Ev. Lutheran Church, 12th St. and 4th Ave. S. Thursday, April 18, at 8 p.m.

There is no charge for this concert, but a free will offering will be received.

The Bethany Choir, directed by Iver C. Johnson, is composed of students from both the High School and Junior College departments at Bethany Lutheran College, Mankato, Minn. Each year approximately 75 students take part in choir activities, and from this number 50 voices usually are selected to make the extended tour during the spring Easter vacation.

Each spring the choir makes about 30 appearances, both in the Mankato vicinity, and on its extended tours. This year concerts will be presented in Minnesota, Iowa, South and North Dakota, Wisconsin, Illinois and Michigan.

Iver C. Johnson

The popularity of the Bethany Choir has been due in large part to the pattern of presenting programs with specific spiritual messages each year. These "services in song," which usually include hymn tunes familiar to all listeners in delightful settings and arrangements, attempt to describe and comment musically upon some of the central themes of Christian faith.

The program this year is centered about the Scriptural doctrine of the Resurrection.

It will feature new and contemporary hymns, as well as old tunes which have endeared themselves to generations of Christians. Because of the youth of these singers the tone of the Bethany Choir has a special vitality and appeal.

Church Women Of Immanuel Meeting Tuesday

The Women of Immanuel Lutheran Church are to meet Tuesday at 2 p.m.

The program is in charge of Lenora Unit, under the direction of Mrs. Tom Lancour. A film titled "My Brother's Keeper" will be presented. Mrs. Charles O'Neil will give a report on "Lutheran Welfare." Also on the program will be a vocal duet by Mrs. Orville Jensen and Mrs. Tom Lancour.

Nursery care will be provided for mothers with small children.

Refreshments will be served in the church parlors by Edith Unit. Visitors are welcome.

Swim Suit Floats

NEW YORK (AP) — A swim suit that floats is the newest safety aid for youngsters.

It is so buoyant that it holds a child safely on the surface of the water while he develops the confidence and the know-how to swim without it.

Contoured to the shape of the body, the suit can also be worn as protection by toddlers who go boating or fishing with their parents, instead of the bulky life jackets usually strapped to them.

Jerrold Robinson, swimming instructor and director of teenage boating activities in Mamaroneck, N. Y., for the past 12 years, developed the suit after learning of a new buoyancy principle which had been worked out in England.

Buoyancy in water is accomplished by trapping air, a lighter substance, explains Robinson, who calls himself "the original bug on water safety." However, air-filled containers, such as the usual swimming aids and water toys are bulky, unplayable, and leak easily.

Robinson uses a polyethylene foam substance with a cavity in

Parsons Trophy Play Will Begin Next Sunday

Play for the Parsons trophy, emblematic of the Elks Bridge League championship, will be resumed this year. The first session will be held Sunday at 1:45 p.m. in the lounge of the Elks Club.

The trophy was originally acquired by the late Robert L. Parsons in 1933 for being three-time winner of the Pair Tournament sponsored by the Atlantic Whist Association. Mr. Parsons was one of the top players in the country and the trophy includes such names as Sydney Lenz, who may be called the father of contract bridge.

Play extends over three week-ends and the pair having the highest total score gains possession of the trophy for one year. Smaller individual trophies are awarded the winners for permanent possession.

Due to the fact that some pairs may not be able to play in all three sessions, one substitution may be used and credit for his score will go to the original pair.

All bridge players in the area are invited to play whether they attend one or all of the sessions.

Defending champions are Mrs. Harry W. Needham and Mrs. J. W. Ferguson.

Danforth

Mrs. Arthur Hammerberg has returned to her home after visiting in Chicago with her niece, Mrs. Gertrude Meyers, who has been ill and is recuperating at her home.

Arthur Hammerberg and daughter, Barbara, are visiting in Kenosha.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Seaman left for Green Bay where Mr. Seaman will have a check-up and will go from there to Milwaukee to visit their daughter.

Mrs. John Ruelau has been released from St. Francis Hospital and is recuperating at home.

The Escanaba Daily Press has expanded its circulation to the Newberry area. This means 200 more subscribers with more to come. This is valuable additional coverage to Press advertisers.

Republican Women To Meet In Capital

Michigan Republican women will take a leading role in the annual Republican Women's Conference April 25-27 in Washington, D. C.

The 25th anniversary of the National Federation of Republican Women will be observed during the three-day conclave at the Sheraton-Park Hotel.

Michigan GOP leaders who are scheduled to play an important part in conference activities are Mrs. Albert S. Koeze of Grand Rapids, national committeewoman and member of the executive committee of the Republican National Committee; Mrs. Elly Peterson of Charlotte, state vice-chairman; and Mrs. Ann Richardson of Detroit, Republican State Central field service representative.

Newcomer's Club To Meet Tuesday

Newcomers to the Escanaba area are invited to attend the regular monthly meeting of the Welcome Wagon Newcomer's Club on Tuesday, April 16 at 8 p.m. in St. Stephen's Guild Hall.

The handicrafts class will be directed by Phil and Connie George who will be using live models to demonstrate the latest hair styling methods and show wigs. Mr. and Mrs. George are proprietors of Phil's Salon of Beauty, 614 Ludington St. and are one of the sponsors of Welcome Wagon.

ZIP TIP

When you shop for clothes, pay particular attention to the zipper. Not only can a dress be ruined by a badly made zipper that catches and tears, but a good zipper usually means you've latched on to a good garment.

HOOD-WINKER

You can help keep the shape of a hood on a jacket or sweater by stuffing a towel inside after laundering. To hasten the drying time, remove the dampened towel that has absorbed much of the water and replace it with a dry one.

M. P. Mercier Dies Suddenly

Marvin P. Mercier, 42, of 155 Maple St., died unexpectedly at 11:15 a. m., Saturday at his home. Born Nov. 13, 1920 in Manistique, he had been a lifetime resident.

He was graduated in 1938 from Manistique High School and married Gladys Mae Millington here Dec. 12, 1942. From August 1942 to December 1945, he served with the Army as a Quartermaster Corps staff sergeant in Iran.

Mercier was a member of VFW Post 4420 here.

Surviving are his wife, two sons, Thomas and Robert and a brother, Lionel.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 p. m., Tuesday from Messier-Broulliere Funeral Home with the Rev. Ingmar Levin officiating. Friends may now call at the funeral home. Veterans have been asked to attend the rites.

Special Guests, Egg Tree Entertain Story Hour Children

Three guests appeared on the Story Hour's "stage for little people" Saturday morning at Manistique Public Library, for 40 children present.

Jim Malloy, 8, a third grade pupil at St. Francis de Sales School played three piano solos. Pamela Quick, 7, second grade pupil at Central School and her sister Paula, 5, did a ballet number and Pamela did a tap dance.

An extra attraction was an egg tree made by Patricia Denman, seventh grade pupil in Junior High. The exhibit entitled "Easter-ville," was used in conjunction with the stories, "Curious George," by Margaret Rey and "The Egg Tree," by Katherine Milhous.

The next story hour, announced by Mrs. Earl H. LeBrasseur, will be Saturday, April 27, during National Library Week, and will emphasize the theme: "Read . . . The Fifth Freedom . . . enjoy it!"

Special book marks will be given and arrangements have been made to show the film, "Impres-sionable Years," which portrays a little girl's first experience in the children's room of the New York Public Library and explains the appreciation which may develop in children through reading. It emphasizes freedom of choice and democratic relationships in the library.

Children three years and older are invited.

NEWBERRY

Newberry Doctor Has Michigan's 1000th Tree Farm

"Some people raise flowers, others prize vegetables or fruits, and others, like myself, get enjoyment from planting seedlings and watching them grow into trees," said Dr. E. A. Rettke of Newberry, when informed that he had become the state's 1,000th certified tree farmer.

On this milestone in Michigan forestry, Dr. Rettke joins two other tree farmers who have previously been given special recognition: The Cleveland-Cliffs Iron Co. of Ishpeming, whose industrial forests became the first certified tree farm on March 8, 1950, and Joseph Ney of Detroit, whose Alcona County woodlands became the state's 500th tree farm on Jan. 31, 1961.

In 1959, Dr. Rettke purchased 240 acres of forest land in Luce and Mackinac counties for investment purposes. Of this, 80 acres were wasteland—cleared of timber and of low fertility. It was this void in an otherwise productive forest that interested him most and posed a personal challenge.

"Once I made up my mind to put those idle acres to work growing trees, I was amazed at the help and advice that was readily available from public and private foresters in the area," the Newberry chiropractor said.

The Luce-West Mackinac Soil Conservation District was one of the first to offer assistance. Dave Ottoson, SCS work unit conservationist, recalls that he and Dr. Rettke walked over the land and decided on a basic conservation plan for the entire ownership, with specific attention being devoted to reforesting the waste-land acreage.

"It is extremely difficult to sell woodland owners on the idea of long range forestry, but good land stewards, like Dr. Rettke, accept this management principle because they feel a responsibility to the resource and to our future generations of citizens," Ottoson remarked.

Dr. Rettke also received invaluable assistance from Ray Gummerson, county agent; James Halbach, district forester, Michigan Department of Conservation; and Robert E. McCraney, regional forester, Kimberly-Clark Corp.

During the past four years, 70,000 seedlings and 2-year-old transplants have been planted, leaving only 10 acres of the original "open" area to be planted this spring. Consistent with soil tests, red pine has been planted on most of the land, however 15,000 scotch pine and 2,000 white spruce were planted in isolated areas.

Lanes were left every tenth row to provide for fire protection, disease and insect control, and future management and harvesting operations.

In 1960, 40 acres of northern hardwoods were thinned to release the more desirable trees, producing some merchantable chemical wood and fuelwood. A stand of poplar is now ready for harvest depending upon market conditions.

About 40 acres of spruce, balsam and cedar will be ready for cutting in about five years, and future sales of Christmas trees from the pine plantations are being considered.

Although Dr. Rettke is the 1,000th woodland owner to be certified by the Michigan Tree Farm Committee, the state has only 923 active tree farms, consisting of 1,342,531 acres. Since the start of the program, in 1949, 77 properties have been decertified for infractions of the standards and for various other reasons.

The American Tree Farm System is sponsored nationally by the forest industries. It is active in 48 states and now lists 25,256 tree farms, embracing 60 million acres of privately-owned, tax-paying forest lands under management. Since birth of the American Tree Farm System and enactment of capital gains tax treatment on timber some 20 years ago, the United States has overcome a timber deficit and is now growing wood faster than it is being harvested and lost to fire, insects and diseases.

One of a series of reports by this newspaper and the Print Advertising Association on the advantages of print media.

Don't you read before you buy?

Most people do.

They count on advertising in print to give them the information they want on products that interest them—information on features . . . designs . . . and prices, for example.

People not only read about products and services, they show ads to their family and friends; they clip coupons for information and samples; they tear out ads to take along when they go shopping.

When you add it all up, print advertising—the kind you read in the pages of this newspaper—makes sense.

And because it measures up to the buying habits of first consumers, print makes sales.

Most people read—and then buy. Don't you?

John Lindenthal, who starred on the Santa Clara University freshman basketball team, has switched his athletic talents to the baseball diamond this spring. . . . The former Holy Name High School athlete is a regular on the Santa Clara frosh ball club that has won four of eight starts thus far this season. . . . Lindenthal alternates between the outfield and first base.

Coach Bob Wallis of Sault Ste. Marie has seven lettermen among 90 candidates for his track and field team. . . . Soo, once a large school track power in the Upper Peninsula, has not been a challenger for several years after winning Class B honors five times in seven years from 1952 to 1958. . . . The returning Blue Devil lettermen are John Howe, Dick Ball, Tom Bell, Ron Christie, Tom Dubow, Tom Rhodes and George Piliatis.

Betsy Hale of Gladstone, student at Northern, finished second in the women's slalom in the state college ski championship meet held at Cliff's Ridge in Marquette this year.

Back in action for the Michigan State golf team this spring will be Gary Panks of Sault Ste. Marie, a senior letter winner. . . . Panks recently carded a 73 in practice and is a likely starter when the Spartans open their varsity campaign. . . . Panks is the only returning letterman from last year's team.

Caesar Tiziani of Ironwood, pro at the Gogebic Golf Club, has come up with a suggestion that makes sense for Upper Peninsula high school golfers. . . . Tiziani proposes that the annual U. P. prep golf championship tournament be held in September rather than in May. . . . He points out that golfers would have all summer to tune up their game and get into condition.

Coach Art Allen's Newberry Indian track team, two-time Upper Peninsula Class A-B champion, will get its first taste of outdoor competition this spring when they compete at Pickford Saturday, May 27. . . . Pickford, of course, has a fabulous record of success in the spring sport. . . . The Panthers have 11 straight Upper Peninsula Class C championships.

Wings' Victory, Without Howe, Pleases Abel

DETROIT (AP) — The Red Wings don't win often when Gordie Howe is shackled—and when they do it brings a mischievous glint of delight to coach Sid Abel's face. Not that Abel has anything against Howe, his old linemate. It merely proves the Red Wings can survive when Howe doesn't shoulder the burden.

"I'm glad to win a game with Howe taking only two shots. It shows we can still win when he's not going."

Overshadowed by Alex Faulkner's two goals and the Wings' do-or-die triumph was the end of Howe's long scoring streak. The National Hockey League scoring champion had produced at least one goal or assist for 24 consecutive games—eight in the play-off Maple Leafs.

The last time he'd been held without a scoring point was nearly two months ago, Feb. 17.

Faulkner's winning goal came on a play the Wings had practiced since last September with infrequent success. He deflected the puck into the goal while standing right in front. It came off a long shot from near the blue line by Marcel Pronovost and required split-second timing.

"I just ticked it," explained Faulkner. "We'd worked and worked on the play and this time it paid off."

Faulkner's first goal which sent Detroit ahead 2-1, winged past goalie Johnny Bower off a goal post. The shot was taken after Faulkner changed his mind while cruising in from 35 feet out.

"I was going to pass to Bruce MacGregor at the side of the net," said Faulkner. "Then I decided to shoot it myself."

"Sure this was my biggest thrill. Anytime I can get two goals in a game like this, there can't be any bigger."

It was a rough night for goalie Terry Sawchuk. He was beaten twice by fluke shots—and finished the game with his arm hurting. Dave Keon beat Sawchuk on Toronto's first goal without ever firing the puck. Keon lost control as he was about to shift and shoot.

"He still hadn't shot," said Sawchuk. "He was going to try to deke (fake) me out, so I went down to stop him and the darn thing went off his stick and rolled right by me. I don't know how it did, but it did."

The second Maple Leaf goal by Tim Horton was disputed. Sawchuk stopped Red Kelly's long shot and the puck bounced in front of him. Then it trickled into the cage off Horton's skate.

After a conference with other officials, Referee Frank Udvari reversed his ruling and allowed the goal. Udvari ruled the puck accidentally hit Horton's skate.

Sawchuk hurt his arm—apparently not seriously—when buried under a pileup in the final minute as Toronto pressed for a tying goal with six attackers.

Spartans Capture Twin Bill Victory

By The Associated Press

Michigan State won a double-header from Albion, Michigan split with Arizona, Western Michigan split with Ohio State and Wayne State edged Hope in Michigan college baseball Saturday.

Michigan lost to Arizona, 6-4, then swept back for an 11-3 victory.

Arizona won the first game on second baseman Ron Theobald's two-run homer in the 11th inning. Fritz Fisher hurled a six-hitter in the nightcap to give the Wolverines a split and give them a 5-3 record for the season.

MSU opened its season with 9-1 and 2-1 victories over Albion; Ohio State whipped WMU 9-3, then lost 5-4, and Wayne State scored six runs in the eighth inning for a 12-10 triumph.

Ketchum collected a double and two singles to pace the Spartans' attack in the opener.

Carl Salling, MSU's third pitcher, picked up the victory.

Marquette Keglers Take Over

Five New Leaders Posted In U.P. Bowling Tourney

GLADSTONE — A crew of Marquette maple maulers took over the Midway Lanes in Upper Peninsula Men's bowling tournament weekend action.

When the splinters settled, Marquette keglers led every event in the regular division.

Five new leaders were posted over the weekend, one in the minor division in addition to the four in the regular.

The biggest crash was made by Mel Hirvonen of Marquette who blasted a 705 series in the singles. James Lawson of Ishpeming spilled a 666 to drop former leader John Hasenfus of Marquette to third place with his 640.

The Clifton Bar of Marquette staggered the team leaders with a 3,041 effort that dropped Graby's Steak House of Marquette to a distant second with 2,980.

Con Lempesis and Everett Senobe of Marquette vaulted into the doubles lead with 1,249. Bruce Kostamo and Lawson rolled into second with 1,244.

Hirvonen is the new all events leader with 1,979 pins, followed by Lawson, Senobe and George Laitinen of Marquette.

The only change in the leaders in the minor division came in the team event where the Escanaba Nite Owls took over first place with a 2,845 total.

City's Centennial Has Headquarters

Escanaba's Centennial headquarters will be moved from the Chamber of Commerce to an American Timber Homes building to be set up at Ludington and 10th St., it was announced today by Harold Cloutier, Centennial activities director.

Arrangements were being made today by Cloutier to have the building, now located near the city industrial park on U.S. 2-41, moved to the downtown business district. The necessary permits to move the structure were being obtained by Cloutier with the hope the new headquarters for the Centennial might be opened by Tuesday.

Briefly Told

June Marie Suriano, 11, of 1312 11th Ave. S., was bitten on the leg by a dog tied in the yard, owned by E. J. Sheedlo, 1211 S. 13th St., it was reported to police.

Pat Koehler, 30, of 1213 N. 3rd Ave., is to be arraigned in municipal court today on a charge of siphoning gasoline. Escanaba police made the arrest Saturday on complaint of Henry DeFant, 511 S. 12th St.

Ernest LaFreniere of 1614 1st Ave. N. reported to Escanaba police that his home had been entered Sunday morning and that a sum of money was missing. Police investigated and found that the thief had entered through a basement window, had taken a $20 bill plus about $6 in nickels and dimes from two banks.

Kenneth McDonald, 26, of Munsina, N. Y., pleaded not guilty in municipal court today to a charge of contributing to the delinquency of minors and is to be tried tomorrow. Robert Davis, 18, of 203 N. 18th St., paid a fine of $25 for being a minor in possession of an alcoholic beverage. They were arrested at 2:34 a. m. today by Escanaba police. A 16-year-old boy was turned over to his parents.

Traffic court summonses have been issued by Escanaba police to John K. Harris, Wells, disobeying traffic signal; John B. Krogdahl, 627 S. 17th St., Gary A. Kirchner, 920 1/2 Delta Ave., Gladstone, Jerry D. Derouin, Escanaba Rte. 1, and Carole L. Johnson, 1228 S. 13th St., all for speeding; Sharon M. Therrian, Wells, expired operator's license and Albert Rockstead, 1305 N. 22nd St., defective tail lights.

Carlson, Rock, Emyl E. Skradski, 1113 Sheridan Road; Charles Young, Rte. 2, Bark River; and Mrs. Oliver Wicklund of Rte. 2, Rapid River.

American Timber Homes are manufactured locally by a division of the Early American Fence Co., of which John Walbridge is president.

Cloutier said the attractive log cabin home will be an ideal headquarters for the Centennial and that it is being loaned for that purpose by American Timber Homes. It will also be advantageous for the Centennial Corp. to have its headquarters in the downtown business section of Escanaba, Cloutier added.

Activities of the Centennial through its many committees are gaining momentum as the season advances. Plans for the Centennial parade, the ball, the queen's contest, the birling matches, water skiing exhibitions and other events require places for committees to meet and the keeping of records, which will be facilitated in the new downtown headquarters.

lion worth of economic and military aid to more than 100 countries.

The program has changed character over the years. At first, with the Marshall Plan, the United States emphasized aid to Europe. With European economic recovery, the United States then shifted the emphasis to the underdeveloped world.

Other shifts have marked the program: from heavy use of grants to heavy use of loans from economic assistance to military assistance and now back to economic assistance.

The Agency for International Development figures that the United States, in the fiscal year ending last June 30, spent $6.7 billion on foreign aid. Of this, $1.5 billion was spent on military assistance, and $5.2 billion on economic assistance.

Minneapolis Loop Gets Face Lifting

By JAMES G. WARD JR.

MINNEAPOLIS — Typical of the beautiful, modernistic structures springing up in the Minneapolis Loop district, which only a few short years ago was a slum and bawdy area, is the new Minneapolis Public Library pictured above.

The decorative statue fronting the main entrance on Nicollet Avenue is a mammoth stone scroll that symbolizes the wealth of written information contained within the walls of this new downtown library.

The library also houses a fine science museum and a planetarium where school children and other study groups can sit in an auditorium as if beneath the stars themselves and learn visually the wonders and mysteries of the planetary universe.

Escanaba Visit

It is another example of the sound planning of Minneapolis' civic leaders who are revamping and upgrading their city's business, residential and industrial areas. Several Escanaba men representing business and industry had the opportunity to study the Minneapolis plan last week and all returned greatly impressed.

A highlight of the expansive downtown development is North Star Center, which encompasses such businesses as Pillsbury Flour, Cargill Grain, Michigan and Ontario Paper Company and the Campbell-Mithun Advertising Agency, one of the top ten in the nation. The first seven levels contain ramp-served parking facilities for 1,000 automobiles, the equivalent of a 10-acre parking lot.

Minneapolis leaders are particularly proud of overhead walkways which they call skyways that span busy downtown streets. The one connecting the Pillsbury Building with the Roanoke Building has from 15,000 to 20,000 pedestrian crossings a day and has been clocked as high as 30,000 crossings a day. North Star Center was constructed at a cost of $25 million.

Downtown Motel

An outstanding, practical feature of the North Star Center is a 180-unit motel on the first nine floors where patrons may drive their cars up ramps to within a very short walking distance of their respective motel units. All rooms on each floor of the motel are different in design, but each is identical vertically... an ingenious innovation that reduced expenses considerably.

North Star Center is a 15-floor building designed for 17 that eventually will include an attractive solarium and recreation area. It now has a swimming pool on a lower level.

The North Star included a trip through the Security Tunnel served

Band, Singers To Make Tour

A concert tour unique in high school music experience will be made by the Escanaba Area Public High School Concert Band and Madrigal Singers beginning Wednesday at 6 a. m., for three days. The students and chaperones will travel in two chartered Greyhound buses.

The Concert Tour Band will have 74 members, selected from a total of 110 band students after exacting tryouts. Four concerts will be presented to students of the Benzie County Central High School, Manistee High School, Cadillac High School and Mt. Pleasant High School.

Itinerary of the group includes a stop at Traverse City for lunch on Wednesday; followed by a concert at 2 p. m., at Benzie; April 18 the concert will be at 10 a. m., at Manistee; at 2 p. m., at Cadillac; and then leave for Mt. Pleasant, where the group will present a concert at 9:30 a. m., on Friday, and then return to Escanaba that day.

The concert program will be selections from a list of nine numbers, including On the Mall, Procession of the Nobles, Porgy and Bess, Paganini; while the Madrigal Singers will present folk songs, chansons and madrigals.

The students are financing the tour through their fund raising activities that included a candy sale and receipts from concerts; plus some contributions from local organizations, which are being most gratefully received, said Conrad Beck, vocal music instructor.

Accompanying the 84 students will be John Chown, Senior High band director; David Laakso, Junior High band director; Conrad Beck; Mrs. Clarence Moore and Mrs. Arthur Crain.

Parents of the students making the concert tour are requested to be present at a meeting and rehearsal at 6:45 p. m., Tuesday in William Oliver Memorial Auditorium. Information on the itinerary and tour rules will be presented.

Delta County Area Plagued By Fires

There were 10 forest and brush fires in the area over the weekend plus seven in the City of Escanaba, and there is no prospect that fire danger conditions will improve.

Owen Bennett, assistant Escanaba District supervisor for the Conservation Department, said there were grass fires at Wells and Perkins caused by children playing with matches; garbage burners set off fires at Hyde and in the Maplewood area north of Rapid River; and there were other blazes at Soo Hill, near Wells and Rapid River.

In Escanaba there were five fires on Saturday and two on Sunday.

Masonic School Of Instruction Planned

Right Worshipful Grand Lecturer Joseph Hunter, former grand master of Michigan Masons, will preside at a school of instruction to be held at the Masonic Temple in Escanaba Wednesday evening, April 17.

Delegation from Manistique and Gladstone will participate and Delta Lodge No. 195 will be the host. Visiting Masons are invited to attend. The meeting will begin at 7:30 and lunch will be served at the close.

Hospital

Patients admitted to St. Francis Hospital on Sunday included: Mrs. Mary Galarno, 515 N. 20th St.; Ellen Miron, 207 N. 9th St.; Richard J. Servant, 800 S. 17th St.; Mrs. Carl Bovin, N. 17th St.; Gladstone; Ralph Besson, 609 S. 16th St.; Mrs. Irene Chernick, Rte. 1, Escanaba; Mrs. Josie

School Closes; Lone Student Is Transferred

MARQUETTE—Graveraet junior high school here seemed a "big word" to Eric Frimodig when he transferred recently from the one room school at Copper Harbor, in near-by Keweenaw County.

In Copper Harbor, the seventh grader was the only pupil. The school has since closed.

When school opened in the fall, the Copper Harbor School had seven pupils. But one by one the enrollment dwindled as Cooper Harbor families moved to winter homes or new employment.

The exodus was completed when Eric's father, David, who was superintendent of Fort Wilkins state park, was transferred to the Michigan Department of Conservation headquarters here.
